

Anna Peterson has proved to be a leader

March 31, 2010

Anna Peterson is someone we have known for over 30 years. We think that she would make a wonderful mayor of our city.

When she and her husband moved to Salem, she immediately became active in the business and community affairs of the city. She has assumed leadership responsibilities in every endeavor she has undertaken. These include serving on the board of directors of SEDCOR and the Commercial Bank (now West Coast Bank), operating her own marketing/PR firm and managing Capital Press Printing.

She is the founding board member and president of the Oregon Artists Series Foundation. She has served on the Oregon Symphony Association Board of Directors and the Historic Elsinore Theater Board of Directors. She has managed political campaigns, and the list goes on.

Her education (journalism degree) and management experience in public, private and nonprofit organizations will enable Anna, as mayor, to work with various diverse groups within our city to assure a reasonable business environment and provide municipal services needed by the citizens.

She will bring honesty, integrity, enthusiasm and a great work ethic to the office of mayor.

We urge you to cast your vote for Anna Peterson for mayor.
